National Association of Wholesaler-Distributors

As you know, NAW has been involved in urging the Administration to prepare and announce Federal guidelines defining what are essential goods and services, in order to provide consistency rather than having businesses respond to hundreds of varying state and local guidelines.

Yesterday the Cybersecurity & Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) published those needed guidelines.

You can find links to the guidelines and to CISA's home page here:

and here:

Questions on this matter should be sent to:

Many thanks.
